What we're about

Our vision is for a world with more connection, less waste.

Our mission is to take the fuss out of bringing people together, encouraging you to connect, laugh, share and eat with others.

We create beautiful, practical and fun servingware with a lid for every occasion. Our serving bowls, platters and utensils are one-of-a-kind and made in Australia with 100% recycled plastic.

ON

Sustainability

We're not just another servingware company.
We're here to challenge unsustainable consumerism.

Our products are made in Sydney, Australia, with 100% recycled plastic.

Our packaging is made from recycled materials or is recyclable. This includes everything from the box to the shipping labels to our delightful stickers and tape.

We only use carbon neutral shipping, no exceptions.

Our products are made to last for years and can be recycled again. Customers can send old products to us, and we'll make sure it gets recycled again.

Who we are

Put a lid on it was started by wife and husband team, Cara and Dan Frank. The first folk to ask “what can I bring?”

Put a lid on it started with a simple question: how can we easily share food and make it look good, too? All without adding to the plastic problem.

For us, food is an experience. An adventure. An experiment. A moment between friends. A reason for bringing people together.
